

Canada's WEEK OF RECONSECRATION to sacrifice for the victory that must come before a righteous peace can be thought of as marred—as all of our recent weeks have been marred—by examples of selfish, destructive strikes. All were called with cunning appreciation of the most vulnerable moment: with food rotting for shortage of labor to can it; when a vast industry making fighting equipment for our armies had only a few hours supply of key parts ahead of it, and so on. Few of Canada's war strikes are called because there is any important difference of opinion between workers and employers in respect to wages, hours, or working conditions. Almost all of them are called for one primary purpose: to build up the power of the racketeering type of labor union organizer; in an effort to destroy respectable labor leadership and raise left-wing labor leaders to power. . . . "An illegal strike," says Munitions Minister Howe, "in times like these, is almost equivalent to desertion by a man in uniform in the face of the enemy." Most of the people of Canada would have agreed with Mr. Howe if he had left out the word "almost." At a time when Hitler has yet to lose an important battle, and when we cannot take the initiative against him because we lack the tools of war, it is a traitorous thing for any mischief maker to call a worker from his bench or lathe without just cause. This is the opinion of the people of Canada. Opinion Surveys Limited, of Montreal, asked a scientifically chosen sample of English-speaking Canadians throughout Canada this question: "In this war, do you believe the government should stop all strikes in war industries?" The answers were: an emphatic yes, 59.7 per cent; yes, 23.5 per cent; no, 8.2 per cent; emphatic no, 3.5 per cent; don't know, 5 per cent. . . . Canada alive today with crooked racketeers, 95 per cent of them from across the line, who pose as labor leaders and are using the strike weapon for the sole purpose of building up membership of their unions. Most of them are C.I.O. They are cynical, ruthless, and without an ounce of patriotism in the whole lot. They have not the slightest concern with the war. One of them told The Financial Post, of Toronto, recently, "It's none of my business if a strike that I call interferes with war production. The war has given me a chance I never before had, and that I may never have again, and I am going to make the most of it." Another C.I.O. leader came to Canada and told Kirkland Lake miners that Canadians were sending their sons to war for "the temporary private gain of the money barons, industrialists and mine owners." Why was he not put behind the bars at once? For that matter why was he—and scores of other anti-Canadian troublemakers like him—ever permitted to enter Canada? Ottawa has an excellent wartime labor-wages policy, one that is eminently fair to workers—fair to the point of being unfair to other classes and of threatening inflation in our war economy. But Ottawa has given everything to labor and exacts no pledge in return from the gangsters and racketeers who have wedged into the labor picture of this country. We should deport all foreign C.I.O. agents now in Canada; lock up any Canadian C.I.O. leaders who persist in interrupting war production; free workers from payment of their dues to C.I.O. unions; and get on with the war.

With strikes wrecking Canadian war effort, it is interesting to note the serious effect they have had upon supplies to Britain, Russia and Canada from the United States. For the first eight months of this year almost 3,750,000 man-days of labor—the work done by that many men in one day—have been lost in the United States through strikes. In war material, it is estimated, this is the equivalent of all of the following: 100,000 automatic rifles and 20,000 50-calibre machine guns and 800 light tanks and 1,000 fighter planes and 250 field guns. Loss of this amount of material in battle would rank as a major defeat. All of it, it is estimated, could have been produced during the time lost by strikes which largely took place in factories working on equipment for United States defence or for export to Great Britain.

Canada's AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY has increased its manufacturing space from 385,650 sq. ft. before the war to a present floor space of over 2.5 million sq. ft. It is scheduled to go up to 2.9 million before the end of the year. Before the war there were 2,271 workers in the industry, now there are 28,755. By the end of 1942, the grand total is expected to reach 34,380.

With army, navy and industry adding 40,000 NEW RECRUITS IN CANADA EVERY MONTH, dwindling reserves of manpower are bringing the Dominion closer to some form of labor conscription. How soon nobody knows. The urgency of the manpower problem is only exceeded by the lack of concrete data on its nature and extent. But Reconsecration Week brought from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics the first official appraisal of the situation, and the speeches of cabinet ministers during that week showed how seriously the problem is regarded in Ottawa. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics made the first official factual appraisal of Canada's labor supply problem in a report which indicates the ignorance which exists about the labor supply yet which outlines within narrow limits its grave urgency. In substance the report shows that industry and the armed forces have been enlisting manpower in Canada at the unprecedented rate of 40,000 per month since the war started. The services have been taking 14,000 monthly; industry has absorbed not less than an estimated 26,000 a month. One quarter of this demand (10,000 monthly) has been met from "natural increase"—boys and girls leaving school, etc., leaving a monthly deficit of 30,000 to be met from the ranks of the unemployed persons who have never worked, housewives, etc. Says the report: "If 30,000 new persons are to come into the market each month in addition to normal recruitments, with the reserve of unemployed now nearing exhaustion, one or both of two courses must be followed: Persons not gainfully employed, such as married women, must enter industry at an even greater rate than in the past, or there must be a shifting of personnel from peacetime to war activities; this means curtailment of demand on industry for production not directly connected with the war."

NATIONAL INCOME for the first seven months of the current year is estimated at more than $3 billion as against $2.7 billion for the corresponding period of 1940. . . . Production of NAVAL EQUIPMENT in Canada is proceeding rapidly with major contracts awarded for such work now totalling over $20 millions.

Export Scheme Details Announced Next Week Present Expectations

Seventy-five Cars Rolled to Seaboard Last Week and it is Expected One Hundred Seventy-five Cars of Apples and Twenty Cars of Onions Will Start for Export Market Next Week—Jonathan and Delicious Picking Gives Concern to Tree Fruit Officials Who Issue Warning to Growers—McIntosh Picking Nears End

DETAILS of the export deal whereby some 1,500,000 boxes of local apples will be shipped to the British markets this season are about completed and B.C. Tree Fruits announce that it is hoped a definite statement can be made next week. The arrangements originally made necessitated some changes in the agreement and while these were not of a serious nature they required some little time to iron out. They were not, however, serious enough to prevent immediate shipment of a portion of the quota and last week about seventy-five cars were shipped to seaboard. 175 cars are expected to roll to ocean ports during the next week and twenty cars of onions in addition.

Four hundred and eleven cars left the Valley last week and another 69 rolled on Monday and Tuesday of this week. 152,000 boxes of unwrapped Coo grade apple and jumble and 55,000 wrapped went on the domestic market. The latter were the combination fancy and Coo pack. The 53,000 which went to Britain were also of the combination pack.

Weather conditions and available markets make the careful harvesting of Jonathan and Delicious more important this year than ever before. The harvesting of B.C. Tree Fruits state, urging growers to make exceptional efforts to have these varieties in the prime of condition. The announcement comes at the time when the McIntosh are about completely harvested in all sections excepting Vernon and Coldstream districts.

Dave McNair, sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits, urges growers to improve the quality of their McIntosh. On Wednesday he said: "In almost all orchards and districts the McIntosh are ready for picking. Harvesting should be done at the right stage of maturity, if the quality of the McIntosh is to be guarded against and if the best quality is to be ensured. This is doubly important this year when large quantities are moving to the United Kingdom, where the sizes are being exported. Every possible effort should be made to reach picking and packing."

Mr. McNair also had a strong word of advice for the Delicious growers, urging that they, too, give special consideration to this variety. "It is becoming apparent that we must revamp our methods of handling this variety," he stated. "The Delicious are a fine apple, but too often they are over-ripe, mealy and resemble sawdust balls."

"We must guard against this condition, which happens right in our orchards, packing houses and storages. From the standpoint of volume this variety ranks second in the world and it usually brings good prices. It is exclusively demanded on certain export markets and finds a good sale from Victoria to Halifax."

"Nothing should be left undone to improve its reputation and this variety's popularity can be enhanced if we follow certain fundamental practices. They should be harvested immediately they are ready, and they are new ready to be delivered to the packing house quickly, and care should be taken that they are packed quickly. Moreover, they should be either shipped or stored in cold storage at the earliest possible moment."

"If these fundamental rules are followed carefully, the crispness and juiciness, which is so vital to consumption is to be increased, with the result that an excellent product will be the result. This cannot fail to pay dividends in the form of wider markets, and the wider the distribution the better the price."

The transcontinental service into Kelowna provides for the new modern cars reaching here on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The new service is one which will fill a long-felt need in the Okanagan Valley, which now has main line service.

Residents Build Aluminum Pile To Assist Canada's War Effort And Give Funds To Red Cross

Two Truck Loads Collected to be Added to That Gathered in "Bury Hitler" Drive at Regatta—Officials Quite Happy About Response—Small Boys Use Heads to Get Two-For-One Admission to Special Matinee—Wide Variety of Articles Contributed to Make Sizeable Pile

A CLATTER and a bang which will find its echo in skies over Berlin some cloudy night resounded along Bernard Avenue Monday evening as members of the Kelowna Junior Board of Trade cleared the old aluminum from the corral. Two truck loads of the metal which is so precious in these days of war were taken from the bin where it had been deposited by the general public on Friday and Saturday. The pile of metal was removed to the storage quarters where it will be sorted, wooden parts removed and the metal prepared for shipping.

Kelowna opened its drive to retrieve the old aluminum in the district on Friday morning. The drive was directed by the Junior Board and all financial returns will go to the local Red Cross branch. The donated metal scrap will serve a dual purpose.

Early on Friday morning pots and pans, percolators and pie plates, kettles and boilers were hurled into the bin. The pile grew rapidly as motorists contributed from one side and pedestrians from the other. By Monday night the wide variety of pieces made a formidable array when a little band of volunteer

GAS SHORTAGE IS POSSIBLE NEXT WEEK

Dealers Believe There is Plenty Till End of Month if All Drivers Are Careful

SOME STATIONS SHORT

Situation Next Week Depends Entirely on Driving Public Operators Declare

As Kelowna enters its final week of its first gas-rationed month there does not appear to be any great danger of a serious shortage here before the October supply is available. During the current month the service stations and garages were allowed seventy-five per cent of their July sales and, although the hauling season is at its height, the reduction in tourist traffic, plus the curtailment in consumption on the part of a large section of the public, has made the quota sufficient to last.

That seems to be the general impression of retail outlets in the city contacted on Wednesday by The Courier in a general survey of the situation.

All retail outlets, however, warn that should motorists be taken to the happy one. The margin will be close, and, if there should be an unusual demand, most stations probably could not meet their requirements. If some stations should be forced to close, it would complicate the situation for the others.

One or two stations, indeed, have already commenced limiting sales to three-gallon lots and others are seriously considering the adoption of this principle. "However, if the public do much unnecessary driving, it is probable that most stations will run short and the whole automobile community will be caused a great deal of inconvenience. Each driver would just consider the other fellow and do as he would like to be done by, Kelowna would see the month through without any shortage."

"If the public will go easy on the consumption and curtail unnecessary driving, there should be little difficulty in meeting the situation and no one will be hurt," one large operator stated. "However, if the public do much unnecessary driving, it is probable that most stations will run short and the whole automobile community will be caused a great deal of inconvenience. Each driver would just consider the other fellow and do as he would like to be done by, Kelowna would see the month through without any shortage."

Mr. Loyd summed up the purpose of the conference at the request of Chairman A. H. Mercer, just after the meeting opened. He said: "There is danger of city minds being poisoned and even of the Marketing Act disappearing. Collective bargaining is just as much the right of agriculture as of any other group, and the principle of orderly marketing is the right of farmers to bargain collectively."

Mr. Loyd felt that perhaps there had been too much "complacency" on the part of supporters of this principle, especially in the interior, and that the time is come when definite and combined action must be taken.

TURN BACK CLOCKS SATURDAY NIGHT

Don't forget to change your clocks on Saturday night. Before you go to bed turn back one hour for that is the night when you get back the hour's sleep you lost the night daylight saving started. Daylight saving officially ends at midnight Saturday, so that when you wake up you will arrive at church an hour early.

Simmerings of the Political Pot

At this stage of the campaign the heading at the top of this column is nothing but sheer exaggeration. The political pot is not boiling, it is just simmering. There is a little water in it, but the water has not even started to get warm, let alone start to simmer or boil. However, let us hope that the column's title is not too far from the mark. As the election comes along, since we are going to have an election, it would be too bad if there was not some interest. After all, a good clean but warm soup might be good for all our souls.

Conservative Candidate Bennett seems to have the jump on his competitors in the matter of getting down to business. At least outwardly he has. He has been busy since he started to do some work quietly but, if so, it has been kept very quiet. On the other hand, the Conservative camp reports that Mr. Bennett has "visited" Peachland, Summerland and Naramata, where he held executive meetings and organized committees. At these meetings the Conservative platform, as outlined by R. L. Maitland, Conservative leader, was discussed and unanimously approved by the various executives of the South Okanagan riding. The "Fifteen Points" of that platform is the joint efforts of the Conservative candidates for the whole province. Each candidate has solemnly promised to do his utmost to see that they are put into effect as soon after the election as possible—providing, of course, that party is given a mandate to form the government.

Local interest of the week actually centres around the selection of the C.C.F. candidate in North Okanagan. The announcement does not come as a surprise, as it had been freely rumored that he would be selected. He is a former member of the B.C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, who is pretty strongly entrenched in the constituency, and Gordon Lindsay, Vernon lawyer, who was finally persuaded to accept the Conservative nomination after that party had had two or three attempts at finding a candidate. Mr. Herbert does not say he will beat the Liberal minister, but he does say he will play a part in the race. He has gone into the fight with his eyes open. "Some one has to do the pioneering," he says, "and I am quite willing to make this sacrifice." Kelowna will have more than a casual interest in the returns from North Okanagan on the evening of October 21st.

On election night the whole province will be watching the returns from Kelowna.

PREPARE TO DEFEND LEGISLATION

Agricultural Interests Join Forces to Combat Open and Concealed Attacks on Marketing Act

CONFERENCE HELD

Committee to Prepare Data for Submission to Royal Commission

Vigorous fighting tactics to resist and overcome open and concealed attacks on the principle of orderly marketing of farm products will be organized by 80 per cent of the primary producers of British Columbia. This was the unanimous decision reached by representatives of the farmers at a conference held in the Hotel Georgia, last Friday. This conference was called by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and was attended by the representatives of the Lower Mainland, members of the four principal Marketing Boards, directors of the Federation and other key men in the agricultural industry.

It was agreed by the conference that prompt and competent measures should be taken to make sure that the B.C. Natural Products Marketing Act, involving the principle of orderly marketing, be retained, and that steps should be taken to ensure a comprehensive submission of evidence to the Royal Commission which will investigate marketing boards' activities.

Representing the B.C. tree fruit industry at the conference were A. G. Desbrisay, President of the B.C.F.A., A. K. Loyd, President of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., Chairman G. A. Barrat and P. E. French, of the B.C. Fruit Board; President E. J. Chambers of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, and C. A. Haydon, Secretary of the Federation and Secretary of the B.C.F.A.

Mr. Loyd summed up the purpose of the conference at the request of Chairman A. H. Mercer, just after the meeting opened. He said: "There is danger of city minds being poisoned and even of the Marketing Act disappearing. Collective bargaining is just as much the right of agriculture as of any other group, and the principle of orderly marketing is the right of farmers to bargain collectively."

Mr. Loyd felt that perhaps there had been too much "complacency" on the part of supporters of this principle, especially in the interior, and that the time is come when definite and combined action must be taken.

ASK LEADERS TO OUTLINE THEIR STAND

Federation of Agriculture Asks Three Political Leaders to Go on Record on Party Prices for Farm Products

British Columbia's Federation of Agriculture will invite the leaders of the three provincial political parties to go on record as supporting the principle of parity prices for farm products.

A definition of parity prices, as submitted to these three leaders by the Federation, is "a proper relationship between the prices of agricultural commodities and the goods and services which the farmer must purchase."

The decision to approach the three party leaders on this matter was reached by the directors of the B.C. Federation at a meeting in the Hotel Georgia, Vancouver, on Friday, September 13.

President E. J. Chambers, President of the Associated Growers of B.C., Ltd., Vernon; H. C. Oldfield, President of the B.C. Coast Growers' Association, Royal Oak; and C. A. Haydon, Secretary, President of B. C. Sheep Breeders' Association, Pritchard; E. D. Barrow, member of the B.C. Milk Marketing Board, Sardis; W. J. Manson, Hazelton, and C. A. Haydon, Secretary, in its submission to the party leaders, the Federation points out that agricultural production costs have already increased and will inevitably continue to increase, as long as war continues. It urges that "our governments should adopt measures to establish a proper relationship between the prices of agricultural commodities and the goods and services which the farmer must purchase."

This issue, as well as matters of school taxation on farm lands, farm labor shortage and the Food Stamp Plan, were referred to the Federation by the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and by other farm groups.

The Federation directors endorsed the movement for readjustment of the imposts on farm land for educational purposes.

E. D. Barrow, to confer with the Union of B. C. Municipalities delegates at their convention at Harrison Hot Springs this week. A similar submission was made by the Federation to the B. C. School Trustees convention in Nanaimo, also this week.

The Federation will investigate the Ontario plan to secure help for the farmers through the services of school students and young women. The experience of Ontario this year in this respect was very successful, the Federation was informed.

Examination of the Food Stamp Plan, as applied in the United States, will be made by the Federation with a view to ascertaining whether this plan is feasible and desirable in Canada. If it is found beneficial, the Federation proposes to launch a Dominion-wide movement to secure its operation in Canada.

Save Gasoline Club To Be Formed Here In Early October

Public Meeting on Tuesday Night Considers Local Honor Organization to be Most Effective Way of Encouraging General Public to Curtail Its Unnecessary Use of Gasoline—Suggests to Board of Trade That it Make Plans and Call Organization Meeting Early in October

Pledge Cards and Stickers

A "Save Gas" club will be formed in Kelowna if the Kelowna Board of Trade follows the suggestion made to it by a representative meeting of citizens held in the Board of Trade rooms on Tuesday night. The organization will be a loosely-knit one and membership will entail the member pledging himself to do his utmost to save every ounce of gasoline and thus making larger supplies available for the fighting services. In return the member will receive a sticker to place on his car.

The Tuesday night meeting was called by the Board of Trade at the request of His Worship Mayor McKay, who had received the request from Ottawa authorities. Ottawa had suggested that such an organization be set up locally to encourage the public to save gasoline and to remind them that it is a vital war economy.

The meeting considered ways and means of encouraging the curtailment of gasoline consumption, and the local pledged club was considered the most feasible. Arrangements have been left to the Board of Trade, with the suggestion that a further meeting be called early in October, and that at that time all gasoline savers be asked to be present and sign a pledge.

Gasoline men present expressed the opinion that Kelowna is already doing more than most towns and that a large number of the car owners here are now cutting their purchases from five gallons to about three.

Gasoline men also stated that they believed the general public would be forced to realize in October that gasoline is a commodity which must be saved, as in that month shortage would become more apparent.

It was suggested that during the next week a number of local stations should find themselves very short and have had to turn away sale in order to protect their regular customers.

It was pointed out that at the end of September the figures would be available and a clear picture of the situation obtainable by comparing this month's consumption with that of last year. It is expected that this information will be available at the next public meeting.

The meeting felt that the suggested scheme of three or four business men using one car to go to work was not feasible here, as the distances were too short. It would turn to Page 5, Story 1

LATE AUG. MAIL FOR BRITAIN LOST

The Post Office Department announced receipt of word that 1546 bags of Canadian mail destined for the United Kingdom and leaving the Dominion during the last week of August had been lost through enemy action.

The mail was made up as follows: 14 bags of registered mail, 153 bags of letters, 435 bags of newspapers, 946 bags of parcels. Included in the shipment were 1293 bags from the base post office at Ottawa containing military mail for soldiers overseas.

Postal authorities said it was difficult to say exactly what the date of mailing would be on the mail lost but probably most of it had been mailed during the first two and a half weeks of August.

Final Figures Show Large Increase in Domestic Sales

Okanagan Apples Sold in Larger Quantities in Every Province During 1940-41

In 1940-41 the domestic sale of B.C. apples was just about fifty per cent greater than that of 1939-40, and the increase was general throughout the country, B.C. apples selling in greater volume in every province of Canada. These facts are revealed in a circular just issued by the British Columbia Fruit Board, which shows the total domestic sale of local apples to have been 3,691,647 boxes as against the 1939-40 figure of 2,631,647.

A comparison of the past six seasons shows that since 1935 the domestic sale has increased gradually until the last year, when it took a decided spurt. The domestic sale last year, indeed, was more than 1,750,000 greater than the 1935 figure.

The figures for the past six seasons are: 1935 crop, 2,226,262; 1936, 2,255,262; 1937, 2,604,511; 1938, 2,589,648; 1939, 2,621,292 and 1940, 3,691,647.

The provincial figures are equally interesting. B.C. itself ate a lot of apples last year. 512,393 boxes were sold in the province as against the 292,530 of the previous year, a considerable increase. The 1940 sales were far in excess of any other of the past six years, the next greatest being 1937-38 when 371,591 were disposed of in this province. 1936-37 was the low year with only 192,251 boxes finding their way to B.C. markets. Other years ran between 250,000 and 300,000. Alberta is the greatest eater of B.C. apples, and last year that province consumed more than any other province, 912,051 boxes. This figure was up considerably over the 1939 figure of 787,141, and away up over the 1937 low of 605,210. The other four years swayed between 645,000 and 757,000.

Saskatchewan and Manitoba both showed satisfactory increases last year, the former jumping from the '39 figure of 759,093 to 852,097 last year, while the latter consumed 687,383 last year, approximately 150,000 more than in '39 when 531,797 were shipped to that province.

Central Canada and the Maritimes showed the most gratifying increase during the past year. Ontario took 336,940 boxes last year. The average amount usually shipped to this province is about 155,000 boxes but the 1939-40 figure was just 95,760. This low figure was due to the zoning regulation which was tried that year.

In Quebec the same condition exists. 527,692 boxes went to that province last year. 1939-40, the "zone year," only 169,555 went to the French-Canadian province, while the three previous years ran about 260,000. It could be safely stated that last year Quebec ate twice its normal consumption of apples.

The increase in the Maritimes was even more outstanding. Here, the figure jumped to 134,920, far in excess of the previous year which it self created the high period figure of 34,856. The normal figure for the previous four years was about 25,000.

COAL NOW

THIS IS THE REASON:

Every ton of coal you can store away today makes it possible ship an additional ton of munitions this winter.

Canada's transportation industry is facing up to its biggest job. Railroad traffic is increasing rapidly. If you purchase and take early delivery of as much as possible, your fuel requirements for the coming winter, you can help materially to avoid a transportation bottleneck.

After October the greatly increased output of munitions in Canada and the United States must take precedence over all other transportation demands. If you don't buy your coal when transportation is available, you may have to wait for it this winter. Therefore, in your own and your country's interest, fill your coal bin now.

GLENMORE HAIL DAMAGE IS SLIGHT

Storm Swept District But Did Little Damage to Apples on Trees—Picked Apples Suffer

Fruit growers became very much alarmed early last Thursday evening, when a hail storm of unusual proportions struck that district. The storm started a short distance south of the school and went north, taking in the whole northern part of the valley. A heavy drenching rain, wind and electric storm accompanied the hail, which was the size of peas. However, the damage was not nearly so great as was expected, as the leaves on the trees protected the fruit. Apples which had been picked and left in the boxes uncovered were badly damaged, however. The ground was still white with hail on Friday morning, and in some sheltered places it lay until the afternoon.

The meetings of the Glenmore unit of the Red Cross will be resumed again on Thursday, Oct. 2, at the home of Mrs. R. W. Corner, when all who can come will be welcome.

It looks as though the rains, which had hindered the fruit picking all through September, have come to an end, with this week starting out clear, bright and warm, and pickers were able for the first time this fall to get in a whole day's picking.

Tpr. Alvin Krasselt, of the 9th Armored Regiment, Camp Borden, leaves at the end of the week, after spending his leave in town.

HORTON-LEWERS WEDDING PRETTY CEREMONY

Frances Lillian Lewers and R. Donald Horton Are Married at First United Church

The First United Church was the setting for the wedding ceremony on Thursday afternoon, September 18th, at 3:30 o'clock, of Frances Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Lewers, and R. Donald Horton, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Horton, of Vancouver. Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiated.

Gladioli, asters and roses formed an effective background for the wedding party. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle gown, a white moire tulle train, cut on princess lines and featuring a full bodice and elbow-length sleeves. Her embroidered veil of silk net was held in place by orange blossoms, and she carried a beautiful bouquet of deep red roses and maidenhair fern.

An attractive complement to the bride was her sister, Miss Betty Lewers, the bridesmaid, in a becoming frock of powder blue point d'esprit over tulle, offset by her shower bouquet of pink carnations. She wore carnations in her hair.

Len Horton, of Vancouver, was his brother's groomsmen, and Dexter Lewers and Robert Parfitt were the ushers.

Mr. Harold Glenn sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Cyril Mossop at the organ, during the signing of the register.

A reception was held at the Willow Inn, following the ceremony, where the bride party was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Lewers, in a navy blue redingote ensemble and hat en tone. Her corsage was of white carnations.

C. A. Hill proposed the toast to the bride, and the groom responded.

Presiding at the lace-covered tea table, centred with a low bowl of tawny colored roses, were Mrs. J. Brydon and Mrs. C. A. Hill. The servers included Mrs. Russell Leckie, Mrs. Stanley Birch, Mrs. Jack Witt, Mrs. Dexter Lewers, Mrs. Harold Johnston, Miss Doris Leathley and Miss Norma Hill.

For travelling, the bride chose a dusky-rose tailored frock, with a top coat of beige and her accessories were of cinnamon brown.

After a motor honeymoon spent at the Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Horton will take up residence in the Ryalsdown Apartments, on Ellis Street. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dinham, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dinham, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Mrs. C. Curtis, Robert Peterson, Len Horton, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnard, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. King and Miss Kay Findlay, of Kaleden, and Miss Mabel Irvine, of Oiyama.

OKANAGAN MISSION

Mrs. J. Hale left for Vancouver last Friday. She is waiting to be called for overseas service.

J. C. Clarence, of Horse Creek, was a visitor to the Mission last week. He was the guest of B. T. Haverfield and St. G. P. Baldwin.

Miss Barbara Middlemass left for Vancouver last week.

Mrs. J. H. Thompson left for Vancouver last week, calling on the way at Seattle to pick up her daughter, Pamela Marshall, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hertzman for the past few weeks.

The Harvest Festival will be held next Sunday, September 28, at 11:00 a.m., at St. Andrew's Church, Okanagan Mission.

Mrs. Robins, of Victoria, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Vic. DeHart, Okanagan Mission.

Bill Ashburn, who left recently to join the Canadian Postal Corps, was sent overseas at once.

Fus. Colin Dunlop, 1st Battalion, Irish Fusiliers, is home on leave to harvest his apple crop. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunlop.

Now that the fine weather has returned, apple picking is again in full swing. Luckily, there has been no wind, so the drop is not as great as it might have been. Farmers are also busy filling their silos.

GIRL GUIDE NOTES

1st Kelowna Girl Guide Company

Orders for week:
Next Rally, Monday, Sept. 29th, in the Scout Hall, at 7:00 p.m. Orderly Patrol: Humming-birds. All bring skipping ropes.

At the Rally last Monday, Mary Altman and Arvella Eberle completed their Second Class badge tests. Rhoda Simpson and Pamela Leckie passed the observation test, and Brownie Barbara has made a start with her Tenderfoot test; we are glad to have her in the Company. Some of the Red Cross bags were handed in; these were very neatly made. All must be returned at the next Rally.

To make the doll-dressing competition more interesting and to assist in awarding points, the competition will be divided into four classes: No. 1, dolls in knitted or crocheted clothes; No. 2, baby clothes; No. 3, national costume; No. 4, character costume. So choose which clothes would suit your style of doll the best. Wouldn't it be great to have more dolls than we need for local gifts, so that we could give some to the Bombed Britons Society to make some child happy over there? We can do it if we get busy right away.

Sergt. C. M. Tostenson, of the 9th Armored Regiment, Camp Borden, arrived in Kelowna on Wednesday morning to spend his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Tostenson.

BOYSCOUT COLUMN 1st Kelowna Troop

Troop First
Self Last

Orders for week commencing Friday, September 26, 1941:
Duties: Orderly Patrol for week, Lynx; next for duty, Cougars.

Italics: The Troop will rally at the Scout Hall on Tuesday, the 30th of September, at 7:15 p.m. On Saturday, the 4th of October, commencing from the Scout Hall at 2:30 p.m., there will be a three hour hike, at which all Recruits or Scouts who have not yet passed their Second Class fire-lighting and cooking tests are expected to attend. Bicycles may be brought to the Hall, and we may go as far as we can on them, but they are not obligatory.

It was indeed a pleasure for us to be able to send off to the "B.P. Chins-up Fund" last week our cheque for $40.00, representing the greater part of the net proceeds of our entertainment last May. We also contributed $10.00 toward the upkeep of the Scout Hall. The Jubilee Mountain three-day hike finished itself from the dollar paid by each Scout attending and thanks to the discounts and help given us by our good friends.

Many of our brother Scouts in Britain have been doing heroic work, in which many of them have laid down their lives. In addition, many, many others have lost their homes, parents, brothers and sisters and all their possessions during the Nazi air raids.

The purpose of the Chins-up Fund is to enable Canadian Scouts to help find the means of providing them with new clothing; to help in sending wounded and exhausted Scouts to rest camps, and to help Groups whose meeting places and equipment have been destroyed.

The need for this help is continuous, and no better way of spending the odd bit of money which we have earned ourselves can be imagined. We are not to ask other people to make donations to the Fund, but we have to earn the money we give ourselves. If every Scout in Canada could earn even 25 cents a year and donate it, the fund would have a wonderful boost, so we must keep up our efforts in this respect.

Dr. W. J. Knox has returned from Vancouver, where he attended the convention of the B. C. Medical Association, held there last week. J. C. Black, of Winnipeg, spent several days in Kelowna this week, while on a motor holiday to the Coast.

AGRICULTURE MARCHES WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Behind the lines where men and women are risking life to defend home and country, men and women are toiling to supply the materials of war—ships, planes, tanks, guns. These manufacturers—management and workers alike—are thus fighting shoulder to shoulder with our armed forces.

But what about the farmers? They are doing a work of equal importance. They too are marching to battle, by toiling early and late to persuade nature to increase the food supply on which the issues of the fight so greatly depend. The farmer marches side by side with the soldier and his armourer.

Farmers who are doing their bit to help Canada's all-out war effort may find it necessary to borrow money at the Bank. You should not hesitate to discuss your requirements with our nearest branch manager. Your business will be regarded as strictly confidential.

TRUCK TURNS OVER TWICE ON VERNON RD.

Benivolin Japanese in Motor
Mishap Monday Afternoon
When Their Truck Gets Out of Driver's Control

Takuchi Tomiyama, Benivolin
Japanese farmer, and his 18-year-old daughter, Sachiko, miraculously escaped serious injury when their truck turned over twice on the Vernon road at 5:15 on Monday afternoon, about two and a half miles from Kelowna. Tomiyama received a cut on the back of his head and his daughter sustained slight leg injuries. She was taken to the Kelowna Hospital.

The truck was badly damaged. It had been travelling between thirty-five and forty miles an hour when the accident occurred, police state.
A one ton model, carrying a ton
and a half of tomatoes, the vehicle had just passed a car when the load became unmanageable. Striving to recover control of his truck, Tomi-yama swayed perilously down the road, but was unable to keep the vehicle from the edge of the highway. As it left the road, the truck rolled over completely on its side,
then turned end over end before coming to rest over a hundred feet from where it left the road. Wheels skyward, it rested on the top of the cab and the back of the truck.

The part of the road where the accident happened is commonly known as the Barlee stretch, near the ranch of J. Spall, who sent in the call for the police by telephone.
Tomiyama was taking a load of tomatoes to a Kelowna cannery when the accident happened. The load was not tied down, it is understood, and this fact may have contributed to the mishap.
Police and bystanders who witnessed the accident were shocked that the two Japanese escaped serious injury. The truck, an up-to-date one, had a strong, steel body, which undoubtedly saved the occupants from severe hurt.

HIGH SPOTS

of Kelowna Senior High School News

The Kelowna High School wishes to keep the public informed of school affairs and so it is again endeavouring to run a school column in The Courier.

Foremost in the attention of K.
H.S. students, as school gets underway, is their part in war activities.

The K.H.S. girls received a visitor
on Thursday, September 18, Miss M.
Manson, chief organizer of the Junior Red Cross in B.C. Miss Manson is on a tour of the province and while in Kelowna spoke to the girls
about the formation of a "Junior Red Cross Corps" and about the work of other schools in the province.

Questionnaires have been sent out to all the Senior High girls and a cadet corps seems to be materializing.

It will consist of drill, first aid, signalling and marching. The problem of a uniform seems to cause some disturbance, as it must be simple and inexpensive.

The Red Cross activities began last year are to be continued. The workers are divided into three groups, the make-over committee,
sewing and knitting groups.
Last year the school turned in hatted handkerchiefs, baby lay-ettes and knitted wear.

PICTURES OF INDIA WILL BE SHOWN FRIDAY

Kelowna Rod and Gun Club to Show Motion Pictures to Raise Money for Spitfire

Thrilling pictures taken in India, showing the hazardous business of capturing wild elephants for training as beasts of burden, the breaking and training of the elephants and their use by the people of India; pictures of a desperate battle between a King cobra and the only animal that venomous snake fears, a mongoose; these will be shown by the Kelowna Rod and Gun Club on Friday evening at the L.O.O.F. Hall, at 7:45. A special feature, showing three highly trained,
thoroughbred, imported bird dogs
in action, following the scent, flushing and retrieving birds, will be another feature of special interest to local hunters.

The show is put on to raise funds
to be used as the local Rod and Gun Club's contribution to the B. C.
Sportsman's Spitfire Fund.

Major Wilson, of Victoria, is making a tour of many points in B. C., showing the pictures for the benefit of the Sportsman's Spitfire Fund. He was for forty years a forester for the British Government in India, and his intimate knowledge of the country makes his running commentary most interesting.
He has once before been a visitor to Kelowna.

CRONIN BOOK SERMON SUBJECT

Dr. W. W. McPherson has chosen for his monthly book talk that much discussed book, "The Keys of the Kingdom," by A. J. Cronin, for his Sunday evening talk. While it is a book that exalts goodness, it also indirectly exposes the tragedy of our international relationships, the horror of much of our social order, the narrow outlook of much of our Christian thinking, and the half-heartedness of much of our Christian behavior. There are also some great characters in the book, which ever strengthens one's belief in the goodness of things. It is a book to be read and remembered.

British Keep Smiling As Girls Are Stockingless And Men Wear Patches

Here is another of those wonderfully bright and cheery letters from Margaret Butcher, English novelist, who gives us an intimate glimpse into the way in which the ordinary, every day folks of the Old Land are standing up to the War. There is nothing better coming out of England than these letters of Miss Butcher which are written specially for The Kelowna Courier and the Midland Free Press Herald.

READING, England—Here is the rain—at last; and on Sunday we were all tremendously excited about it, after weeks of hot, dry weather. We all talked about rain—and hardly a word about the war. It just goes to show what happens when one becomes allotment-minded. Till now I have always thought of rain as just something that has to happen sometimes, but is principally conspicuous for leaking through ceilings and shoes: a tiresome manifestation altogether. But not now. Since this started the edibles have actually beaten the weeds to it—a thing I should hardly have thought possible a fortnight ago!

Only one thing is disappointing all the Gardening Partner wearing a lamentable hat, the world's worst shirt, coat and pants, and a furiously tickled grin.

It Did Its Job

Nevertheless, the Tank did its job. With every duck it came along to the waterless allotment and justified its remarkable existence; and who can ask more? This shortage of materials has certainly pepped up our ingenuity. When all this is over, the Musical Tank should take its place among our honored relics. Even before it started it had the makings of a museum piece.

There are other things happening, too. The other morning as I pattered along to the bus, I observed two of a locality's most up-to-date residents, in their shirt-sleeves, busy cutting the hedge at the side of the road—and making a very fair job of it. Indeed, I am inclined to suspect them of private hedge-trimming in less communal days. Unlikely folk, in fact, are to be met doing all manner of unlikely things. Most of us, for instance, now go about without stockings. Our undergarments are no longer the pallid, unclad-looking affairs they once were.

Leather Patches

Nobody minds wearing clothes that are a bit shabby. Men who used to be dandies are to be seen in coats with leather binding round the cuffs, and even leather patches at the elbow and it's a very curious thing, but in my office—where one might have expected to find young persons almost exclusively interested in clothes—I have not heard one single moan about the new leather-coupe system. We shall manage. Folk still look neat, and it's a careful, satisfying sort of neatness. Hats may still be bought without coupons, but many women and girls have given up wearing hats. Instead, lots of them have broken out in a new place, and one is a trifle startled to see parti-colored hair: a bright golden streak in the front. I suppose it is the fashion of the moment, but I wonder, though it isn't always as successful as the wearer (doubtless) imagines it to be. But what matter as long as it feels dressy? There are few things more cheering in the dreary dreariness of the world, at least, than their little hearts—they deserve a spot of fun.

People, in this uncertain lull, are popping back to bombed areas for week-ends. You can't stop them. Churchill says. They go off to London, or Portsmouth, or Plymouth as joyously as if they were bound for the most peaceful spot on earth. They may have to sleep in a shelter; they may be no good for the time being; but what do they care? They're going home; and home is home, even with no window-glass and a hole in the roof. Even with the prospect of more bother when they get there. One might fancy that nothing would persuade them to put nose in the place again, after some of their experiences, but—as somebody predicted months ago—they now look on the blitz as "one of those things."

Not a Sweet Song

After all, an evacuee's life isn't one long, sweet song. It's no joke, often enough, to live in somebody else's house; especially when the householder hasn't had her imagination livened up by a personal dose of blitzing. We're still human. I heard of one landlady, last week, who must be moving now in a state of pained and cautious wonder since her evacuee observed to her: "Well, I'm going back to London in a fortnight, and the night before I go, you just look out for yourself!" I shall wait developments with considerable interest. Maybe these Londoners can give as well as "take it."

be taken if the danger is to be met. With this as a lead, the farmer groups representatives and the reserves decided by resolutions to "welcome" the fullest investigation of the Marketing Boards' operations by the Royal Commission and to authorize the B. C. Federation of Agriculture to appoint a steering committee whose duty it would be to gather factual evidence for the Royal Commission and to devise ways and means to defeat the attacks on the principle of orderly marketing of farm products.

Later in the day, the directors of the Federation met and appointed Chairman Barrat of the B.C. Fruit Board, Chairman Tom Wilkinson of the B. C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, Chairman W. Williams of the Milk Board and Chairman Les Gilmour of the B. C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, along with President Chambers of the Federation, as members of this steering committee. The committee will meet in Vancouver within the next few days to carry out the instructions of the conference.

This conference will be maintained as an entity and the steering committee will report to it at intervals, through the B. C. Federation of Agriculture, to which has been assigned the responsibility of sponsoring and supervising the campaign. The conference felt this course was indicated inasmuch as the Federation spoke for the agriculturists of the entire province.

Dean Clement, of the University of British Columbia, urged that every possible effort be made to gather as to cost of production and other elements in agriculture were placed before them.

The outcome of the Royal Commission's investigations, Dean Clement said, might bring amendments to the Marketing Act and perhaps new set-ups for the Marketing Boards.

"Brains and backbone" would have to be demonstrated by the farmers if they were to keep marketing legislation, Reeve Joseph Brown of Surrey declared.

Reeve Alex. Hope of Cloverdale did not want to go back to selling potatoes at $6.00 a ton on Wainwright Street, as before the Marketing Board functioned.

Reeve R. M. Grauer of Richmond told the conference that labor would come to the farmers' side if the facts as to cost of production and other elements in agriculture were placed before them.

Reeve A. D. Paterson of Ladner warned that every farm would become encumbered if orderly marketing were lost. He figured that me her particular fire-watching trouble. She was bombed out of her home, but we don't hear a lot about that. The worry of the moment is the elderly gentleman with whom she frequently shares fire-watching duty. He has travelled extensively, that elderly gentleman, and in real life I fancy he must occupy the position of Club Bore, for she complains that he stands in the doorway for interminable periods—

TO PAY YOUR 1941

Income Tax

on the Government Monthly Plan

You Must Start at Once!

Next Tuesday will be the last opportunity to pay your 1941 Income Tax on the Government Monthly Plan. This gives you the privilege of paying in twelve monthly installments without interest, instead of by lump sum in March, 1942.

Here is how to get the monthly payment privilege! Divide the total of your 1940 Income Tax by twelve. This is your first payment—and must be paid to the Receiver, General on or before September 30, 1941. You will then pay the same amount before the end of each month for the balance of 1941. When you have estimated your 1941 income tax at the 1941 rate, you will deduct the four payments you will have already made, and pay the remainder in eight equal monthly installments, starting January, 1942.

The Government offers the above plan as the most reasonable and convenient method of meeting income tax obligations. Ask your local Income Tax Office for Installment Income Tax Remittance Form—and any further information you may require.

Minister of National Revenue.

Commissioner of Income

2 RESIDENTS BUILD

From Page 1, Column 4

"We are quite happy about the amount of old aluminum turned in. There is quite a decent amount there. When this is combined with the 'Bury Hitler' amount collected at the Regatta, it will make a fair showing," D. C. Paterson, member of the Red Cross committee co-operating with the Junior Board, stated.

The Empress Theatre ran a special matinee for children with the price of admission being a piece of old aluminum.

"This resulted in a good 'take' and many amusing incidents. One chap was seen with exactly half of a kettle. It had been seen in two. A few feet away from him another young chap had the other half. Two boys wanting to see the show and one piece of aluminum; youngsters usually find a way around these things and these two youngsters did."

Another chap had a kettle—minus spout. A few feet away stood his buddy clutching the spout and looking a little apprehensively in the direction of Manager Will Harper, who closed his eyes to the border-line circumvention of the rules of his matinee.

The provincial objective for the aluminum campaign is thirty thousand pounds. If that amount is reached, the contributions of Kelowna and from all over the province will be shipped directly to the factories engaged in the production of war materials. Should less than the thirty thousand pounds be collected, the metal will go straight to refineries in B. C. and will be treated there.

Contributors will have the satisfaction of knowing that their donations will have an instant effect upon Canada's war effort, for the moment that the aluminum reaches the refineries it is under the control of the Dominion Metal Controller. The Boy Scouts have stepped into the gap with their usual cheerful willingness to assist whenever they can with worthy causes. They pitched in with a will to assist the Junior Board of Trade members, under the direction of Stewart Gregory, to separate the good aluminum from useless material and remove handles and other fixtures from the old aluminum that must not be included when the metal is flattened, baled and shipped. This work was to be started on Tuesday afternoon.

Shipping arrangements are made by the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross. The goods will be carried free of charge by the railways, and the value of the aluminum will be turned over to the Red Cross for war relief work at all kinds and other vital activities of that world famous society.

Final plans for crushing the old aluminum into ready for baling and shipping have not been settled. It may be that a city road roller will be used for the purpose, since the okay of the City Engineer has been given that arrangement. Another proposal is to take it to a local machine shop equipped with a special metal roller and process it there. The Junior Board is anxious to get the job done and the metal into active war production, so it is expected that action will be taken soon. In order to expedite this, the board may have lights connected in the warehouse on Water Street, so that they may work evenings.

The tremendous amount of scrap iron that has been accumulated by the board in the past several months is likely to be included in shipments to Alenby by local scrap iron dealers. An arrangement has been offered to the Junior Board whereby they may include their iron and get full credit for it at the Granby foundry at Alenby. The proceeds, of course, will go to war charities.

vince will be watching Prince Rupert, Premier Fabbro's own built-up town, to be a fairly general impression that Mr. Pattullo is going to have his own troubles in retaining his seat. It is a small riding and in the 1937 election he had only a small majority, about four hundred, if memory is correct. Recently, however, with the increase in the shipbuilding industry at Rupert, there has been an influx of workers into the riding and about 1,200 names have been added to the list. The catch is that it is believed that a considerable portion of these new voters are C.C.F.ers, and there is a strong candidate of that political complexion opposing Mr. Pattullo. The result is that there is some anticipation that Mr. Pattullo has the battle of his life on his hands.

Down in Similkameen they are not again about the Hope-Princeton road, and the boards of trade have banded together to query the prospective candidates on their views on this road. At a meeting held at a number of the replies were read. The present M.L.A., Charles Tupper, was on the defensive and endeavored to allay the Government's policy on the road, but at the same time he maintained that he is in favor of the project. Tom Daly, Conservative candidate, being one of the "outs," could safely go on the offensive and let a few fireworks which would warm the hearts of the road proponents. The C.C.F. candidate, May Campbell, refrained from personal expression of opinion but quoted "demanded" local reaction which was won, but it isn't so any more. Bravery oils the machinery—but you've got to have the machinery. Bravery alone isn't much use against a machine-gun; you've got to have a gun in good as the other fellows, and better, if you can get it. In other words, this is a business of hard work and hard cash. Scientific invention, shipping, armaments, it's a question of dollars. So what does it matter if we're taxed up to the eyeballs, if we're shabby, a little bored by the sameness of our rations, if we can't rush about in cars and go home and there for our holidays?

Money isn't much use now except for the one purpose. We can't even make a guess at what it will be worth when all this is over. The one thing we do know is how useful it can be at the moment. I think

The honor of holding the first campaign meeting in the riding goes to Mrs. E. Snowsall, the C.C.F. candidate. She will make her debut at Rutland on Friday night, and will be accompanied by W. Irvine, the early leader in Alberta. The usual C.C.F. practice of holding a question period will again be a feature of the meeting.

 "But there wasn't a local raid," I objected. "What happened?"

be just as effective if the individual walked to work.

The Kelowna Rod and Gun Club, however, is endeavoring to arrange four-men-to-a-car hunting parties. The idea is that four hunters every sane, logical, decent citizen sees it that way. It's no news to 'cert anything can be; the folk who are sitting on their cash—well, they are just taking a crazy chance. In my opinion, I'm no financial genius, I have not much money in the world, but I've put what I have into War Savings because it seems the best prospect of still having a bit to go on with when the war is over; and what's the good of it, any how, until that happens? So, roll on the day.

How are things going with you folks over there? I expect that, like us, you are getting up to all sorts of dodges to get money out of all sorts of pockets; but once it strikes one that it takes Cash as well as Courage... well, the pockets open up all right. You'll see. There are thousands of us who wouldn't know one end of a machine-gun from the other; there are crowds of us who couldn't even lift a heavy sandbag; hundreds more who suspect (either rightly or wrongly) that we'd have our work cut out to stand up to a real blitz. But there aren't many of us who haven't got a spare dollar we can hand over. More power to your elbows!

More Than Courage

What brave, cheery people they are! Yet I have thought lately, that perhaps we may be over-accenting the bravery. It's there; no need to worry about that. However, all this takes something more than courage, so why not face it with a little more of dollars? So what does it matter if we're taxed up to the eyeballs, if we're shabby, a little bored by the sameness of our rations, if we can't rush about in cars and go home and there for our holidays?

Money isn't much use now except for the one purpose. We can't even make a guess at what it will be worth when all this is over. The one thing we do know is how useful it can be at the moment. I think ers should combine and use the one car instead of, say, two cars. The club has this arrangement in hand.

 The reason for gas conservation is simple. The war has made the consumption shoot up rapidly in this country and at the same time has reduced the facilities for obtaining it. There is plenty of oil in the fields but Canada only produces about fifteen per cent of its normal requirements. Before the war, a large fleet of tankers, operating under foreign flags was used to bring oil to Canada.
 The Battle of the Atlantic plus the increased demand in Britain has reduced the number of tankers available to Canada to an insignificant number. Eight Norwegian tankers used for Canada have recently been turned over to Britain, and that has left only eight Canadian-owned tankers to supply this country. The result is obvious.

 Some provinces are considering putting a forty-miles per hour speed limit into effect, and motorists are being urged to remember that a car which gets twenty-five miles to the gallon at twenty miles an hour only gets nineteen at fifty and fifteen at sixty.

cently been turned over to Britain, and that has left only eight Canadian-owned tankers to supply this country. The result is obvious.
 Some provinces are considering putting a forty-miles per hour speed limit into effect, and motorists are being urged to remember that a car which gets twenty-five miles to the gallon at twenty miles an hour only gets nineteen at fifty and fifteen at sixty.

Now is the season of the year when your oil in motor transmission and differential should be changed to winter-grade. Summer oil is not satisfactory for winter driving as the body is much too heavy to remain fluid in frosty weather, which is absolutely necessary to properly lubricate the ball and roller bearings on which the gears operate. You can prepare now for the first cold snap that comes "Like a thief in the night," by having the radiator of your car filled with Chryco-Glycol Anti-Freeze which does not boil away in the mildest fall weather, or even in the hot days of summer. It has the approval of Chrysler Motors engineers as the ideal anti-freeze.

ers should combine and use the one car instead of, say, two cars. The club has this arrangement in hand.
 The reason for gas conservation is simple. The war has made the consumption shoot up rapidly in this country and at the same time has reduced the facilities for obtaining it. There is plenty of oil in the fields but Canada only produces about fifteen per cent of its normal requirements. Before the war, a large fleet of tankers, operating under foreign flags was used to bring oil to Canada.
 The Battle of the Atlantic plus the increased demand in Britain has reduced the number of tankers available to Canada to an insignificant number. Eight Norwegian tankers used for Canada have recently been turned over to Britain, and that has left only eight Canadian-owned tankers to supply this country. The result is obvious.

 Some provinces are considering putting a forty-miles per hour speed limit into effect, and motorists are being urged to remember that a car which gets twenty-five miles to the gallon at twenty miles an hour only gets nineteen at fifty and fifteen at sixty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CARE OF CEMETERY

Sept. 23rd, 1941.
Editor, Kelowna Courier.
I would appreciate your allowing me a small space in your paper to bring forth to the Kelowna citizens every citizen's consideration. It is in regard to our Kelowna Cemetery. If one visits our cemetery, he or she cannot help but be impressed by its beauty and tidiness. This neat condition is due to the efforts of the caretaker. But, in a few days time the City will be dismissing the caretaker and shutting off the water and it will be only a matter of two or three weeks before the grounds will become scraggly and the cemetery in general, very untidy. This is not a fitting tribute to the beloved ones who rest there, especially when it would be an easy matter for the city to maintain a caretaker the year 'round at very little expense.

Last year stray horses were wandering around the graves, leaving the cemetery in a terrible looking state. I would like to suggest to the citizens who have friends or relatives resting in our Cemetery to sign a petition and urge our Mayor and Aldermen to take more pride in our "resting grounds" and maintain a caretaker every day of the year. Yours very truly,

JOS. ROSSI.

COAL SUPPLIES ARE CRITICAL IN CANADA

Cape Breton Slowdown And Reduced British Imports Hits Supply — Buy Now Campaign

The Cape Breton slowdown, plus apparent British blundering in respect of coal production, is creating a critical situation respecting Canadian coal supplies for 1941-42. The Cape Breton slowdown, now in its twenty-second week, has already cost Canada over 770,000 tons of precious fuel.

From April through to August, 1940, we imported over 600,000 tons of anthracite from the U.K. The corresponding total this year is about 300,000 tons.

Since late August there has been a complete embargo on U.K. exports except in some small sizes. Canadian coal authorities have been unable to get some relief from this, but the fact is that when Britain drew out some 80,000 miners from the pits to strengthen armed services, she weakened the mines to such an extent that even domestic supplies are now threatened, without any surplus for export.

Alternative Supplies

To Canadian householders this means there will have to be almost complete reliance this winter on coke and U.S. anthracite. Coke is difficult because every ton withdrawn for domestic use tends to cut down the supply for industry. U.S. anthracite shipments are currently about 30,000 tons behind last year and prices are rising almost weekly. Bituminous coal supplies from the U.S. are unsatisfactory but not critical. Current supplies are down about 500,000 tons but the lag is less than it was a month ago. Some further progress is expected in shipments before the freeze-up starts.

"Canadian coal dealers and distributors are making every effort to co-operate in the Buy Now Campaign," stated Mr. J. McG. Stewart, Coal Administrator under the War-time Prices and Trade Board, when announcing a "Buy Coal Now" campaign.

"Wherever and whenever possible they are filling their coal yard to capacity. But," he added, "the efforts will fail unless the citizenry co-operate in the general public. Only a very few of the large dealers have yards or docks big enough to stock coal sufficient for the total winter requirements. Most dealers can stock only a few hundred tons, and must keep selling their coal, if any great quantity of coal is to be moved before October 1."

"If your dealer, through some temporary shortage of coal, cannot make delivery immediately upon order, order your coal now anyway, and ask him to deliver it at the earliest possible date," said the Coal Administrator. "Help yourself and help your country by filling your coal bin now."

Gordon Jennings, son of Mrs. O. Jennings, left on Wednesday for Vancouver, where he has accepted a position with the Boeing Aircraft of Canada, Ltd.

JACOB BLOCH DIED MONDAY

Passed Away After Year's Illness — Resident Here for Past Five Years

The death of Jacob Bloch, 54-year-old resident of Kelowna, at his home, 201 Berrington Street, occurred on the morning of Monday, September 22nd. He had been ill for more than a year, and twice in the past twelve months he went to Vancouver for treatment.

He was born in East Russia, November 1st, 1886, of German parents. In 1902, with his parents, he emigrated to Canada, settling near his family to Kelowna and was accompanied here by his parents. In Winnipeg, he was engaged in the interior decorating business, but was of a casual nature. He worked as an orchard assistant during the fruit season.

The late Jacob Bloch was a fine type of naturalized citizen. He took out his naturalization papers in 1908. In 1913 he was married in Winnipeg. Besides his wife, he is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bloch, of Kelowna, a daughter, Mrs. Sam Grusinger, of Winnipeg, a son, Roy, thirteen years of age, at home, and two brothers, Henry, of Vancouver, and Michael, of Kelowna.

Funeral services were held from the German Baptist Church at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday. Rev. Don Harry officiating. Burial took place in the Kelowna Cemetery.

Sgt. A. Macdonald Attends Classes for B.C. Police Civilian Protection Students at Kamloops This Week

Sergeant A. Macdonald, head of the Kelowna detachment of the B.C. Provincial Police, left on Sunday to attend a week-long class in civilian protection (A.R.P.) instructional work at Kamloops.

"The necessity for proper precautionary measures in case of aerial attack is considered important by high officials of the Provincial Police. The purpose of the week of instructional civilian protection work is to train policemen as instructors, so that they may return to their detachments to conduct classes for the instruction of every constable on the force. Sergeant Macdonald will pass his knowledge to local policemen, on his return to Kelowna."

During his absence, Constable R. H. P. Hayward will be in charge of the Kelowna police office.

LOCAL MAN IS WOUNDED OVER GERMANY

P.O. W. D. McCulloch's Plane Has Hazardous Trip Back to England—Wounded Slightly

Pilot Officer William D. McCulloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. McCulloch, 311 Water Street, Kelowna, was wounded while in action with the Royal Air Force over enemy territory late in August. However, his parents believe him to be now back in service, fully recovered.

The bomber in which P.O. McCulloch was flying was caught in a severe enemy anti-aircraft barrage while engaged in bombing operations. One of the engines of the big bomber was badly damaged and P.O. McCulloch was wounded by the blast that struck the plane. A hazardous flight back to England was successful, but the plane crashed as it was landing. At first the plane, with its crew, was reported missing, but later information announced their safety.

Young McCulloch, 20, was born in Revelstoke. He enlisted with the R.C.A.F. while attending U.B.C. He went overseas last April and has been engaged in bombing enemy territory since last June. In his letter he told his parents that he was not seriously hurt and would be back in there taking a crack at Jerry again soon.

His parents moved here last year from Revelstoke when Mr. McCulloch retired from the service of the C.P.R. He had been a railway engineer.

LETTERS TO
THE EDITOR

SKIRMISH AT A BRIDGEHEAD

R. H. J. Kelowna, Sept. 21, 1941.

To the Editor, Kelowna Courier.

I would like to reply to your editorial of Sept. 18th, under the heading of "Skirmish at a Bridgehead."

Some time ago you tagged me as opposed to the Tree Fruits set-up.

Well, I admit it, and so long as this is a free country, that is my privilege.

If compulsory co-operation were getting me the things I figure I am entitled to, I could see the sense of it, but so long as I have to take prices below the cost of production,

while at the same time helping to keep a couple of boards and their stuffs handsomely, I will continue to endeavor to become a free agent.

I have no objection to the "dirt"

but what farmer, or anyone else as far as that goes, would say getting

"what's left" is O.K.? We used to say the packing houses were to blame for the prices we got. Now their prices are lower and we are certainly not getting the same price

as we did last year. You try checking up the prices as paid by the different houses for the same grade of fruit, and you will know what I mean.

Tree Fruits have unlimited powers, it seems. What other organization would give away their members' produce, as they did last season, to the processing plants and get away with 17 thousands and thousands of Fancy and Extra Fancy

fruit was dumped last year, in spite of the fact that many folks on the prairies would have been more than

glad to get them. Surely a "B.C. Fruit Board" could find some other way of disposing of them. Personally, I would much rather have seen them

donated to some one. I hate waste.

The prices we get have not helped the consumer. I have a file of dozens of letters written in reply to a letter of mine in the Herald complaining of the high prices they still pay and asking me to help them out by sending fruit direct. In self defence,

I had to ask the editor to publish

my regrets that, while I would like nothing better than to fill all their orders and thereby get a reasonable price myself, and at the same time

let them have fruit at a price they can afford to pay, I am not allowed to do so.

In a letter from Berwick, N.S., a grower there says they have become practically serfs, peons and peasants, instead of independent. I take it they are working on very much the same conditions as we here, all in debt to the packing houses for spray, taxes, etc. There too, all the young men have enlisted, leaving the mess to the oldsters to carry on or sink, as I guess, quite a few will do. They are a little more fortunate than us, though, as he says

they get their statements in the spring; we get ours later and later.

Here it is the latter part of September and we are still waiting for our final rebates.

In your editorial you mention child labor. Well, Mr. Editor, there is quite a bit of child labor being used in this fair valley of ours this season, and not altogether due to the lack of man power and the war

either, but for sheer economic pressure.

In closing I would like to reiterate

what I have told the Tree Fruits

Ltd. Until such time as the grower's prices are fixed, and that ahead of picking, in order to give him the option of using his own judgment

as to whether it is going to be worth

PEACHLAND
JUSTIFIES
ITS NAME

Has Record Peach Season This Year - Mrs. Gummow Attends W. I. Conferences at Coast and Island

Peachland shipped its ninety-fifth car this season on Saturday, September 20, being a car of Macs going to the United Kingdom. The apples are now coming in fast

while the peaches were cleaned up this week. This was the biggest season ever known in this district

for peaches, according to the manager of Walters, Ltd., Art Pentland.

There were 42,000 packed boxes of peaches sent from this packing house, with 172 tons sent to the canney.

The business of J. H. Clements, which has had thirty-two years of continuous service in Peachland,

has been sold to Len Hill, of Kelowna, and the firm name will be changed to the Len Hill General

Store. The late J. H. Clements, who established the business, came to Peachland in 1908 and during the following year built the store in its present location. For many of these years Mrs. Clements ran the bakery business for the town

as well as operating the general business. In 1932 he passed on suddenly, and the work of managing the store went into the capable hands of his young son, Ted, who has now joined the R.C.A.F. The new owner, Len Hill, has had considerable experience in this line of work, having been with the K.G.E.

in Kelowna for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Whinton returned from Vancouver on Thursday, September 18, and he leaves shortly for Quebec, where he will be the Stores Department of the R.C.A.F.

Mrs. W. D. Miller was a delegate to the United Church Presbytery,

where she will be on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Mel Barwick returned from Vancouver on Friday, Sept. 19, and left on Saturday for Merritt with Mrs.

Barwick. Mr. Barwick has joined the R.C.A.F. as an armorer, and he leaves on September 26 for Toronto,

where he will receive instruction in this course. Mr. Barwick will accompany him to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. A. McKay and Miss

Sheila McKay left on Friday, Sept.

19, for Kamloops, where they attended the wedding of Miss Honor

Vincent, of the Gang Ranch, to Thurba Cushing, of Kelowna. Miss

McKay later went in company with

Miss Vivian Vincent to Vancouver,

where both will attend the University of B. C.

John Gummow left on Tuesday night for Vancouver, where he will attend U.B.C.

Mrs. L. B. Fuls returned on Saturday, after spending a week

with Mrs. Verne Cousins at Summerland. Verne is making good progress, following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. H. E. Trimble returned to

WINFIELD

During the past week a number of ladies have been busy halving and stoning prunes for the making of jam for the Red Cross. About thirty-two boxes which were donated were prepared in this way and then sent to the Modern Foods plant, where Kelowna ladies undertook the making of the jam, the equipment being kindly donated for the purpose by the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Stangquist, accompanied by their children and Cecil Stangquist, motored to Ender-
by and Grindrod over the weekend, where they visited with their respective parents.

F. C. Brown, of Vancouver, motored up last week on a combined business and pleasure trip. He was accompanied by friends from Toronto, whom he took up to Beaver Lake to enjoy a spot of fishing.

Art Lidstone returned to his home
at Grindrod on Monday, following two weeks of McIntosh picking.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. White and daughters motored on Sunday to Langington, where they were guests of Mrs. White's parents.

Rex Powley arrived here from Red Deer last week on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Powley.

Three little girls sent out of London found a new home at a farm house. They asked to be allowed to share the same room. Their hostess agreed, and one of the girls wrote home jubilantly: "We have dogs and calves and horses and pigs and cows and chickens and we all sleep
in the same room."

To Cook Vegetables

Most housewives make the mistake of cooking vegetables too long and in too much water. To preserve their delicate flavor, vitamins and minerals, put them into only one inch of boiling water, cook them covered quickly and serve them immediately. Plan the meal so that the vegetables need not stand and wait for the eating.

LET'S TALK VALUE—Picobac has always given full value for the money
—it is the pick of Canada's Barley crop.
But today its value is higher because
(1) constant scientific research has improved the quality of the crop and
(2) advances in manufacturing methods have, year by year, made Picobac a milder, cooler, sweeter smoke. Try today's still better Picobac—

CANDLELIGHT WEDDING CEREMONY

Thurba D. Cushing and Honor Emily Vincent Wed in St. Paul's Church at Kamloops

A candlelight ceremony in St. Paul's Cathedral Church, Kamloops, on Friday evening, September 19th, united two Okanagan families, when Honor Emily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Charles Vincent, Gang Ranch, was married to Thurba D. Cushing, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cushing, of Kelowna. Ven. Archdeacon H. S. Akhurst officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beige wool dressmaker suit, with chocolate brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

For the reception at the Lela Hotel, the bride's mother chose a blue wool dressmaker suit, with collar of Persian lamb. For her wedding trip the bride donned a beige wool fitted coat trimmed with chocolate brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing, who are both former students of the University of British Columbia, left immediately for Ottawa.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cushing, Miss Joan Cushing, John Cushing, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Finch, all of Kelowna.

KELOWNA MAN IS MARRIED AT COAST

John C. Benmore Marries Vancouver Girl Well Known Here—Will Reside at Coast

A wedding of local interest took place in Vancouver on Saturday morning, September 20th, at 10 o'clock, in the chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, when Ruth Evelyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hamlin, of Winnipeg, became the bride of John C. Benmore, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Benmore, of Kelowna. Dean Cecil Swanson officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by Mr. Frank Templeton.

The bride chose a brown mink collared tulle suit with matching hat and accessories of brown suede. Her corsage was of chrysanthemums, Taisman roses and white heather.

Mrs. Benmore is well known in Kelowna, having been Mrs. Henderson's assistant for the last few years in the Daily Province Cooking School.

Mr. and Mrs. Benmore will reside in Vancouver.

COAST WEDDING OF LOCAL INTEREST

The wedding of Lillian Mae, only daughter of Mrs. Bertha M. Hazlett, and the late W. A. Hazlett, of Vancouver, to Harry Richard Smith, younger son of Mr. Charlotte Smith and the late J. E. Smith, of Vancouver, took place on Saturday, September 20th, at St. John's Anglican Church, Vancouver. Rev. N. D. B. Larmouth performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Smith at one time was a member of the teaching staff of the Kelowna schools.

Your breakfast ought to make you say:

BOY, DO I GO FOR THIS FLAVOUR!

...for then you'll know it really is Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

Yes! The exclusive, mellow Kellogg's flavour tells you right away that you're eating the cereal an overwhelming majority of Canadian families vote their favourite... the cereal that taste experts chose in blindfold tests!

And don't forget! That gorgeous, mouth-watering flavour gives you the kind of appetite which helps digestion. Make sure you have Kellogg's Corn Flakes for tomorrow's breakfast. Order two or three packages right away! Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Kellogg's carry family vote!

Through three succeeding years more than 5000 women have been asked, "What is your family's favourite cereal?" And each year Kellogg's Corn Flakes won by an enormous majority. Last year, the investigators said, "Which brand of corn flakes do you think tastes best?" Four out of five said "Kellogg's!"

Your family too will enjoy Kellogg's. And a serving for all of them costs only a few pennies. In two convenient sizes for the home. Or if you eat out, ask for the triple-wrapped individual package.

CARS COLLIDE SCHOOL ZONES' MONDAY LAST SPEED VIOLATED

Cars driven by Mrs. Peter A. Maguire, 145 Coronation Avenue, and Hugh F. Stewart, 268 Richter Street, collided at the corner of Richter Street and Casselman Avenue at about 2:00 p.m. Monday. No one was injured, but considerable damage was done to both cars.

Mrs. Maguire was driving east on Casselman, while Stewart's car was going north on Richter. The left rear side of the Stewart car was smashed with a glancing blow by the Maguire car, which then carried on, hitting a mailbox and coming to rest against a fence. The front of the Maguire car was damaged extensively.

Maurice Lane has returned from a holiday spent in Trail.

Two Fined in Police Court for Ignoring Special Limit in School Zones

Two cases of violation of school zone speed regulations were tried in Police Court on Wednesday morning. Convictions were made in both cases and fines were levied.

H. C. S. Collett, of Kelowna, appeared before Magistrate T. F. McWilliams on a charge of exceeding the fifteen miles an hour speed limit in the school zone at the corner of Bernard Avenue and Richter Street. He was fined $5.00 and $1.75 costs.

The same penalty was imposed upon G. K. Anderson, of Kelowna, who appeared in court on a similar charge. He was driving a truck when he exceeded the speed limit. Both offences were committed on Tuesday afternoon, between three and four-thirty. The charges were laid by Constable Hayward.

The police previously had issued a warning to a number of motorists, and elsewhere in this issue a story warns motorists against ignoring the school zones.

Sgt. Pilot Charles Dore, of the R.C.A.F., and Mrs. Dore arrived in Kelowna on Monday from Calgary, where the former has been stationed. After spending his furlough in town, Sgt. Pilot Dore will go to Trenton, while Mrs. Dore will remain in Kelowna for the time being.

The Misses Joyce and Ruth Henderson, of Toronto, were visitors in town on Monday and Tuesday of this week, en route to the Coast on a motor holiday.

Thrift EQUIPS MEN

For the men of Canada's army, only the best will do. From tin hats to service boots their equipment must be the finest Canada can produce.

Good equipment costs money... large sums of money. And that money must be provided by the men and women of Canada out of current income.

How? By honouring pledges to invest in war savings certificates every month. By saving now, to pay war taxes when due. By saving now, to invest in Victory Loans should further loans be necessary.

This means that every Canadian must learn to do without some of the things he normally enjoys. Watch your spending. Stern duty demands that we save for Victory now.

BOOK REVIEW

(All books mentioned in this review are on the shelves of the Kelowna branch of the Okanagan Union Library.)

"Black Bayou," by Idwal Jones, is a story of the hunters and trappers of the Louisiana swamps. All had been going peacefully at Egremont under the direction of Rishay Aubin, the overseer. While he quietly developed his particular brand of sugar cane, the Cajun muskrat trappers kept their vested rights as they had done for years. But when the owner, Captain Tene, comes home, after having been absent for a long time, he upsets the peaceful routine, and it is through his new desire to have the whole plantation in sugar cane that Egremont finally comes to its downfall. The picture of the Cajun trappers is splendidly and economically drawn—these sultry, free men who kept the patois, the tricks of trapping and hunting, that their fathers had brought with them from Nova Scotia. Rishay, Dr. Egremont, and Captain Tene are given the stamp of definite character with few words and almost cold impartiality. But the important part of each character is his relation to the story, that great, almost feudal, estate is the prime object and excellent achievement of "Black Bayou." On the whole, this is a clever and entertaining new book.

Another new novel, "Tadpole Hall" by Helen Ashton, this time the scene is England, and the time September, 1939. Helen Ashton has tried to show how various people reacted to the outbreak of the war. It preceded it, Young and old, refugee and native; laborer and professional man, all contribute their color to the picture. This is another book about the English people and how they are bearing up, but it is something more than that. Miss Ashton has no axe to grind. She is concerned, first and last, with her characters and in setting them free to act naturally against such a background as England has never before had thrown to them. There are some lovely descriptions of the country around Tadpole Hall. There is also an unforgettable chapter dealing with an auction sale at Lambrook Grange after the death of old Lady Peacock. This book is so realistic that it seems to me that the author made a mistake when she took a flight of fancy and named the greater part of the characters after birds.

"The Captain from Connecticut," by C. S. Forester, is another of his stirring tales of the sea. The career of an American sea captain during the war of 1812 provides the background for this historical novel. Captain Peabody runs the blockade from New York in a blinding snowstorm, joins forces with two Baltimore ships and hies to the Caribbean, where he causes a lot of trouble among British vessels until he is trapped in Martinique. The English novelist, C. S. Forester, whose fame as a narrator of naval adventure tales of the Napoleonic epoch reached his peak in the "Captain Horatio Hornblower" trilogy, here pays tribute to American sea-fighters. To suggest that Josiah Peabody is a counterpart of the gallant Hornblower would perhaps be overstating the case, but on patriotic grounds, but to mention certain resemblances—an equal professional ability, like courage and susceptibility to feminine charm—is merely to point out familiar characteristics of the highest type of officer in both services. Particularly interesting is the odd contrast conjured up in your mind between naval warfare today, so total, so mechanical, so non-human, and naval warfare in 1812, fought in accordance with a complex system of etiquette, almost Arthurian in its courtliness. Despite the carnage, the sea battles as Forester describes them have a quality of the dance, so formal are they. A book that most men will enjoy, and any women readers who like a good rousing tale.

KELOWNA TEAM WINS FROM SALMON ARM

Annual Inter-Club Match, Kelowna Residents Are Urged Gains Kelowna 12-8 Win Last Sunday at Salmon Arm

Kelowna golfers won from Salmon Arm last Sunday by a score of 12 to 8. They journeyed north to take part in the regular annual inter-club competition between the two teams and were guests of the Salmon Arm Golf Club. In the morning the Salmon Arm players were triumphant over the visitors, but in the afternoon play Kelowna came back strong to win by a margin sufficient to capture the aggregate.

N. White and W. Vance teamed to register the highest score for Kelowna, winning one point in the morning and three in the afternoon. Dr. Cecil Newby and Fred Williams chalked up a total of three and one-half points for Kelowna in the day's play, while Les Roadhouse and Collinson totalled three points for Kelowna. Fawcett and Pike, with three and one-half, were high scorers for Salmon Arm.
